ABOUT SINGAPORE

Singapore – A Garden City

Singapore is made up of 63 surrounding islets with a total land area of more than 719 square kilometers with an estimated population of 5.7 million people.

Although its compact size belies its economic growth, within 150 years, Singapore has grown from a fishing village into a thriving centre of commerce and industry. Singapore is home to one of the busiest ports in the world with over 600 global shipping lines sharing Singapore's waters with coastal fishing vessels and wooden ships.

Over the years, Singapore has managed to diversify and strengthen its economy, becoming the economic giant of South-East Asia. Singapore is a major financial centre in Asia (with more than 130 banks and multinational financial companies) and it is the location of one of the world's major oil refining and distribution centres. It possesses a robust electronic components sector, and leads the course in shipbuilding and repairing – all facilitated through a world-class communications network which links the nation to the rest of the world.

Singapore's strategic location, excellent facilities, fascinating cultural contrasts and tourist attractions contribute to its success as a leading destination for both business and pleasure.

ABOUT NTU

NTU is world's top young university for sixth consecutive year

NTU leads the dominance of Asian and technological universities in QS' latest young universities league table

Nanyang Technological University (NTU) has topped the rankings for young universities for the sixth straight year. In Quacquarelli Symonds' (QS) latest rankings of the world's top 50 universities under 50 years old, NTU retained the No. 1 spot. The rankings shows the performance of universities focused on Science, Technology, Engineering and Math. The rankings regularly show top performance from our engineering faculty.

NTU offers courses in engineering, science, business, humanities, medicine, arts and social sciences, with the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine being a jointly directed school between NTU and Imperial College London.

With an excellent network of top overseas universities and industry leaders, NTU's academic and research partners include Imperial College London, Rolls-Royce, BMW, Lockheed Martin and more.

The University's main campus has been named one of the Top 15 Most Beautiful in the World.

The NTU community comprises more than 30,000 students and over 4,000 researchers and faculty staff, all hailing from a 100 different nationalities – a testament to Singapore's values of multiculturalism and openness.
